

I chose the relationships that I did because they made the most sense to me. The customer being connected to both tickets and concessions as the customer will make purchases from each, and tickets being conncted to movies so that we can see the film information for each ticket sold.